HENKEL CONSTRUCTION RIDES THE WAVE WITH AREA AQUATIC CENTERS

Henkel Construction crews recently completed two new area aquatic centers in Manly and Forest City. These are the latest in a wave of aquatic centers in North Iowa that have crested during the last few years.

The Manly Family Aquatic Center covers a little more than 4,000 square feet. It offers water enthusiasts some exciting amenities. With a water basketball hoop, “Waterway” children’s play feature and Spillbuckets to soak those who dare to stand under them, there are things for everyone to enjoy during the summer.

“It’s everything we thought it would be and more,” says Adam Hines, Manly Aquatic Center Manager. “Henkel Construction worked exceptionally hard to keep everything on schedule to deliver a top quality pool.”

The Forest City Aquatic Center is nearly 8,700 square feet. Special features include: a leisure pool, water flume slide, children’s “Aqua Play Structure” and geysers. A grassy area will surround the pool for those wishing to soak up some rays. There are plenty of aquatic options to satisfy all ages.

Both aquatic centers are complete with a bathhouse offering locker rooms, admission and concession areas. Zero depth entry offers even the smallest water lovers a chance to dive right in and enjoy the fun.

These recently completed aquatic centers join a growing list of communities jumping into the water. Henkel also renovated the Belmont Swimming Pool, adding zero depth entry and a 12-foot deck umbrella to enhance the current pool.

Last year Henkel completed the Garner Aquatic Center bringing rave reviews. The Garner Aquatic Center incorporates many water structures for small children including the toddler slide and “Baby Long Legs.” But there are plenty of thrills for older water seekers like the Drop slide and Enclosed Tube Slide.

“It’s everything we thought it would be and more. Henkel Construction worked exceptionally hard to keep everything on schedule to deliver a top quality pool.”
